HALF MILLION FOR BUILDINGS HERE LAST YEAR

NUMBER OF BUSINESS PLACES ALSO ERECTED

Over a half a million dollars was spent for buildings and improvements in Middlesboro during the year just ending, according to information furnished by local lumber and builders' supply firms. Two-hundred and twenty-five residence houses were completed by material furnished by the three lumber yards during the year.

The proprietor of one lumber firm reported that his business showed an increase of $71,000 in 1923 over the preceding year. The others reported a very satisfactory business.

Though all sections of Middlesboro have had an increase in buildings during the past year, dealers say that the Nortown section, West End, has been the busiest scene of building activity for several months.

In addition to the residences erected, there have been a large number of business buildings completed. Among these are the brick buildings erected by the Tri-state Motor company, one of which is now used by the Ralston company, Lee Rennelsmann's large brick garage on Fitzpatrick avenue and the Evans and Ramey Motor Sales company building at the rear of the city barber shop. A handsome addition to the Brosheer-Brummett hospital is nearing completion and the Wabash Dry Cleaning plant two-story brick building has been finished.

A considerable quantity of the materials sold were for improvements on residences and business houses and several thousand dollars worth of it was used in street construction.

As there are doubtless many persons who building without getting a proper permit from the city council and these records are not kept except in the minutes of the council meetings, no check on buildings and improvements could be obtained from this source. Records upon which these figures are based were furnished by the three lumber companies. Doubtless other houses have been built from materials secured through other channels, making a total, perhaps of nearly 300 residence houses.

Building activities have necessarily slackened since the beginning of bad weather but dealers are expecting a great demand for materials with the comin ggood weather.

BUSY BEE AND WABASH OWNERS BUY DIXIELAND

Zacharai and Cakmes Bros., owners of the Busy Bee and Wabash cafes, have bought the Dixieland cafe, on Cumberland avenue, from Rigo brothers. The new owners took possession of the business Wednesday.

The acquisition of the new restaurant makes the Zacharai and Cakmes Bros., firm the operators of three large cafes in Middlesboro. The new owners state that the Dixieland will be run along the same lines as formerly.

GETS 18 YEARS FOR ASSAULTING GIRL

Former Fulton, Ky., Man Convicted of Crime—Lawyer May Be Held For Part in Case.

DRESDEN, Tenn., Jan. 3—Renfro Tucker, 27, member of a well known Fulton, Ky., family, charged with criminal assaulting Miss Helen T. Naroney near Martin last September, was found guilty in circuit court here today and sentenced to eighteen years in prison. A committee of lawyers has been named to investigate what part a Fulton attorney may have had in the alleged attempt to settle the case by payment of money to the girls' mother.

BASKETBALL GAME TOMORROW NIGHT

Corbin High to Play Local Team in New Gym—Inter-Church Meet Last Night

The M. H. S. basketball team will have the first game of the season when it meets the Corbin high school team at the local high school gym at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night. The public is asked to encourage the sport this season by turning out well to the opening game.

T. R. Hill will probably be referee for the game. The probable line-up for the M. H. S. team follows: Brown and Jacobs, forward; Murrin, center; Slone and Faulconer, guards. Substitutes who will probably get into the game are: Willis, Cleiland, Gibson, Sewell and Bob Brown.

A number of seats will be available at the stadium for the game tomorrow night, enough for nearly all who attend, according to Coach J. T. Kilpatrick. The players have new uniforms and all the equipment of the stadium is new.

A meeting of the inter-church teams was held at the high school building last night, after which practice started off in a lively manner. A great deal of interest is being manifested by the teams and an enjoyable basketball season for this class of games is in prospect.

AUTO COLLISION ON BIG LOG MOUNTAIN

An automobile collision near Big Log Mountain on the Pineville road at 7:30 last night resulted in the overturning of one car and small damages to the other.

Bert Poore, driver of an Oldsmobile, was coming toward Middlesboro at a slow rate of speed, he says. A Ford car which contained four passengers whose names are not known ran into the rear of the larger car. The latter was turned over on its side. So far as it is known, no one was hurt.

POSTAL RECEIPTS SHOW BIG YEAR

Increase, $4,190.34 Over 1922, More Than Twice Last Year's Gain Over 1921

Postal receipts for 1923 here show a gain of $4,190.34 over those of 1922. This increase is more than twice as large as that of 1922 over 1921.

This condition indicates good business for Middlesboro during the year just ended, postal receipts being considered an infallible barometer for national business. A further increase of $8500 will place the Middlesboro postoffice in the first class, a rating that will mean an increase in salaries for some of the officials and also additional clerks in the office. If the present annual increase is maintained, this stage should be easily reached in two years.

Though the receipts for the entire year greatly exceeded expectations, the final quarter of 1923 showed a slight loss over the same period of the preceding year. The receipts amounted to $13.08 less than those for the corresponding quarter of 1922.

Postal receipts include proceeds from the sale of stamps, box rent, etc. Money order fees are not included in the receipts.

Interesting figures on the amount of money sent out of Middlesboro last year and that received here, through the medium of the postal money order have been obtained from the local postoffice.

The total amount sent out of town by money orders for the year was $142,703.17, while only $59,313.10 was received here in money orders and cashed at the postoffice.

KIWANIANS TO FRANKFORT ON ROAD MISSION

T. R. Hill Heads Committee Urging Completion of Road to Lexington and Asking Reappointment of H. H. Asher

APPOINTMENT WITH GOVERNOR FIELDS FOR JANUARY 14

An appointment with Governor Fields for January 14, has been obtained by the committee of local men named yesterday by the Kiwanis club to urge on the new state administration the importance of completing the road between Barbourville and Lexington, and to ask for the reappointment of H. H. Asher or the appointment of some other representative State Highway Commission. The consoutheastern Kentucky man on the gagement with Governor Fields was made by T. R. Hill through his friend, Rev. George C. Waggoner, the governor's secretary.

Mr. Hill, chairman of the committee, has also gained the promise of 25 influential citizens in each of the towns Pineville, Barbourville, London, Corbin, Harlan and Middlesboro, to write personal letters to the governor today or tomorrow calling these matters to his attention. Copies of these letters will be sent Mr. Hill to be used when the committee goes to Frankfort.

The committee will seek to bring to Mr. Fields' attention the fact that holding up the contract on the unfinished link of the road between Lexington and Barbourville bars an outlet for most of the state, furthermore that this road has been marked as the north and south route by automobile clubs all over the country who have promised that the road would be finished by next year. This is the only way through Kentucky it will be shown, as the Dixie Highway only touches here, most of it being through Tennessee. Failure to complete it will put Kentucky decidedly back in the detour class. Another point to be brought out will be the unselfish spirit of the citizens here who voluntarily pay a one cent gasoline tax to keep the detour road passable during the winter.

Mr. Hill has talked to Ed. Dishman of Barbourville, newly elected state auditor, and C. E. Phillips of Corbin, assistant state treasurer both of whom will use their influence to help in this matter. An appointment also has been made with Senator A. O. Stanley for January 12, to solicit his aid in the matter.

Mr. Hill says he is particularly anxious that the democrat administration seize this opportunity to offset the republican campaign challenge hat improvements in southeastern Kentucky would come to a stop if the democrats regained power. He also expressed confidence in Governor Fields because he said he did not believe the new governor would forget the way he sliced the republican majority in this district election time.

Robsion Recommends Kentucky Jurist for Seat in Federal Court of Appeals

Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The appointment of Judge Flem D. Sampson, now chief justice of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, as judge of the Federal Court of Appeals, sixth circuit, was recommended to President Coolidge today by Representative Robsion, republican of Kentucky. The appointment would fill a vacancy soon to be created by the retirement of Judge L. E. Knappen of Grand Rapids, Mich.

COUNTY CLERK FAILS TO COME WITH LICENSE TAGS

Many Middlesboro automobile owners were disappointed today because license tags were not on sale in accordance with the announcement. The county court clerk changed his plans about coming here to sell the tags, stating that he will try to have the tags here Thursday.

Meanwhile, motorists have a few days of grace left. Governor Fields has announced that all automobile owners will have until January 10 to procure the 1924 tags. In order to be certain of getting the license numbers in time, however, Middlesboro people should go to the clerk's office at Pineville as there is no assurance that the plans about coming here will not be changed again.

BOND ISSUE TO BE BIG TOPIC IN LEGISLATURE

Judge Unsworth Says He Will Support Governor Fields' Plan If It Is Kept Clear of Politics—Has Several Local Measures

BELL REPRESENTATIVE DECLINES MINORITY LEADERSHIP

The $75,000,000 bond issue, which will be the major recommendation that Governor Fields will make to the state legislature when it convenes Tuesday noon, will be much the biggest concern of the legislature during the next session, said Senator J. F. Bosworth today. Judge Bosworth leaves Sunday to take his seat again in the legislature where he has served since 1908.

This issue is planned to take care of the road, the schools and the state charitable and penal institutions. It will be a remarkable piece of legislation if it is put across in a non partisan manner, Judge Bosworth pointed out, but a terrible thing for the state if passed in a way to build up a party machine in Kentucky. Bell county's representative declared that he would support it with all other matters of a like worthy nature recommended by Governor Fields.

Judge Bosworth was again offered the minority leadership in the house he declined stating that he believed he could do more constructive work this year when the Republicans are so far in the minority, if he did not have to shoulder the responsibility of the party stand. He has several measures which he wishes to put across for Bell county, including the road from Binghamtown to Pounde and the Middlesboro sewer system.

The legislature will convene at noon Tuesday. The Democrat caucus will be held Monday evening and the Republican at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday a. m.

LOCAL FREIGHT RATES EXORBITANT

Declares W. E. Gunn in Letter to Kiwanis Club—Matter to be Taken Up With District Agent

A letter from W. E. Gunn, prominent local coal operator, in which he advocated a reduction in coal freight rates in this immediate section, was read before the Kiwanis Club at the regular luncheon hour yesterday. It was referred to the public affairs committee, of which T. R. Hill is chairman, and will have immediate attention.

In this letter Mr. Gunn states that the charge for hauling coal from the mines in this section to Middlesboro is exorbitant far in excess of the rise in other commodities, and that it is because of this that the people living in this city have to pay so much more for their coal than they should.

In 1913, Mr. Gunn brought out, the freight rate from Bennett's Fork or Stony Fork Hollow was 15 cents a ton and now it is 52 cents a ton. The general average of increase in prices of 1923 over 1913 according to the survey by Prof. Irvine T. Fisher of Yale, Mr. Gunn points out, is 60 per cent. The freight increase here is shown to be 247 per cent. According to the 60 per cent general increase, local coal operators should be paying 24 cents a ton instead of 52 cents, or a little less than half as much.

Mr. Gunn further showed that the distances from the mines to Middlesboro were in no instance more than nine miles and that is a little more than switching distance. The switching limits in Cincinnal are quite as great, he said, and no charge whatever is made there.

Mr. Hill said that the public affairs committee was taking the matter up with W. C. Gilbert of Knoxville, district freight agent. If they do not get any commodity rate established in this way, the matter will be taken up with the Interstate Commerce Commission and relief will undoubtedly be received though it may be some months.

EQUIP RED CROSS DENTAL CLINIC

Local Dentists to Give Services to School Children—Work Starts In Ten Days.

The Red Cross dental clinic is being equipped in the headquarters office on Cumberland avenue. Everything is practically ready for operation now except the water connections which will be completed within a few days.

Miss Marx stated that local dentists have agreed to devote a part of their time to the work, though no schedule concerning the hours each will spend there nor the time during which the office will be open has been arranged.

Dental work for school children and in other meritorious cases will be done there when the office is open for work.

NUMBER OF MEASLES CASES REPORTED IN MIDDLESBORO

A number of cases of measles have been reported in Middlesboro recently, according to public health authorities. The police department is placing warning signs on all houses where the disease has been reported. The health officer is very anxious that these cases be reported so that cards can be placed on the houses, in accordance with the health regulations.

ARCHAEOLOGISTS FIND TOMB OF OLD KING TUT

Long Sought Treasure of Antiquity of White and Red Granite in Fourth Casket—of Rare Artistic Value

SARCOPHAGUS OF DEAD MONARCH ELABORATELY CARVED

Associated Press

LUXOR, Egypt, Jan. 4.—The sarcophagus of Pharoah Tutenkhamen found in that monarch's tomb in the Valley of Kings, announced today the long sought sought treasure of antiquity lay within the fourth casket. It is of white and red granite.

The sarcophagus, brought to light after remaining hidden 3000 years, lies within the fourth casket of blazing gold, even more brilliant than the other shrines enclosing the sarcophagus. Its doors are covered with cartouches of dead pharoahs surrounding the figure of the dead monarch. The sarcophagus is elaborately carved and there is reason to believe it will be of even greater artistic value than the pink sarcophagus of Hatshahb or the famous alabaster coffin of Seto, the first, now in the London museum. Howard Carter, in charge of the exploration, unbolted—the doors of the fourth shrine which finally established the fact that the lest resting place of Tutenkhamen was really discovered.

SERIOUS ACCIDENTS TO 2 L. AND N. BRAKEMEN, SAME PLACE

Two serious accidents to brakemen have occurred near the same place on the L. and N. line at Catron's Creek recently.

While attempting to board a moving train there Friday, Arthur N. Patterson, of Middlesboro, was dragged about ten feet when his foot slipped from the step. His hip was broken twice and his shoulder was badly hurt. He was taken to the Shady Lawn hospital at Harlan where he is reported to be recovering.

Mr. Patterson was taking the place of Otey F. Harris, brakeman, whose foot was mashed near the same place two days before when it was caught between the couplings of two cars.

BAD WEATHER BRINGS MANY REQUESTS FOR CLOTHING

The recent cold and bad weather has brought to light many cases where clothing of all kinds, particularly for women and children, is needed. Persons having garments to contribute are requested to call Miss Wilhelmine Marx, public health nurse, or to deliver them to her office.

Though about 400 garments have been given to poor persons this year, the need for warm clothing still exists. Many small children and several women are in need of underwear, dresses and other garments.

A THOUGHT

We are but of yesterday and know nothing, because our days upon earth are a shadow.—Job 8 9

SHORT as life is, we make it still shorter by the careless waste of time.—Victor Hugo

INCREASES IN COAL TAXATION

This summer there was waged throughout the state a controversy on taxing coal pro and con the opinion differing between the agricultural section of the state which advocated a percentage tonnage tax on coal to make more state revenue and the mining sections of the state which protested that they were already amply taxed and that a tonnage tax would render them unable to sell in a competitive market with other states The controversy has subsided but many still believe coal taxes should be raised

The following extract from the state tax commission is an interesting shilelight on the matter

In view of considerable discussion that has been indulged in throughout the state, we desire to further analyze the increase in the assessment of lands mineral rights and leases Although there has been an increase of $11 693,611 in the assessment of lands, mineral rights and leases during the past fiscal year, the records will further disclose that while that increase was occasioned solely on account of the increase in the assessmentof mineral lands The assesment of agricultural lands in this state has decreased in each of the past two years, and the increase in the assessment of the coal producing counties of the state has been sufficient to offset the decrease in the assessment of agricultural lands and in addition thereto make an increase in the total assessment of all the lands of the state

In further proof of this fact we desire to call your attention to the increse in the assessment of some of the principal coal producing counties in the state during the past fiscal year, the assessments has been increased in the following counties during the past fiscal year During the past fiscal year the assessments has been increased in the following amounts in the following counties

Bell	$ 215,257
Floyd	1038 850
Harlan	99,855
Johnson	612,528
Letcher	1 371 078
Muhlenberg	116 918
Ohio	1,126
Perry	4,057,900
Pike	6,480,175
Webster	46,040
Whitley	42,657
a total increase of	$18 672 524

It will be observed that the assessments in some of the above counties have been materially increased more than in others but the records will show that those above named which did not make material increases during the past fiscal year had been increased materially in former years On the other hand, we have selected at random eleven agricultural counties of the state, and find that instead of there having been increses in the assessments of the agricultural lands there have been decreases as follows

Bourbon	51 170
Boyle	517,818
Calloway	101,710
Christian	1067,710
Franklin	152,971
Garrard	152 910
Graves	1,191,878
Harrison	138,400
Jessamine	17 879
Madison	205 770
Mason	105,431
a total decrease of	$4,627,609

NO MORE PENMANSHIP

It is said by those who are studying the matter that not only is penmanship becoming a lost art but that such handwriting that is left is more of a miracle of It is alleged the other way around Personal experts in charge of employment for large business firms are not interested in letters of application showing beautiful penmanship they classify the writer of such letter as a dumbbell, fearful lagging soul who could never act on his own initative or make a good executive

The typewriter has helped to bring this about It is very much easier to carry on the bulk of routine correspondence with typed rather than hand written letters The former takes much less time both in the writing and the reading It is natural that persons who write a lot with a typewriter should find their penmanship deteriorating for lack of practice and because they unconsciously try to imitate type or print

Nevertheless, if penmanship in general is becoming outmoded, sometimes remain with us legal document and letters and bank checks and various other things still have to be signed by hand With less handwriting to do, one should find it possible to concentrate on making the little that remains legible Of course any reform is a fault ,then let those who pride themselves on the direct line refrain from using the typewriter and return to the old fashioned way of their mothers

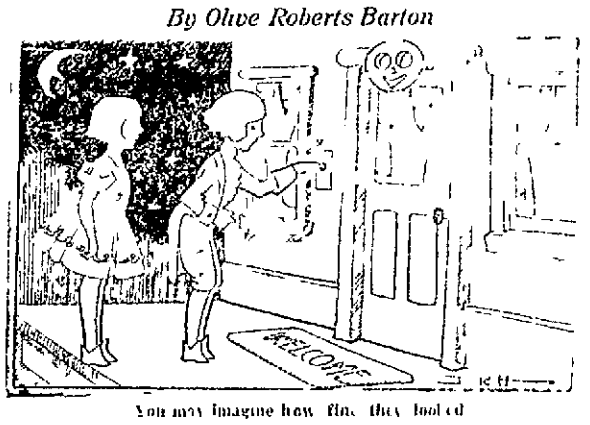
Adventures of The Twins

By Olive Roberts Barton



You may imagine how fine they looked

EVERYBODY was happy on account of the party that night Bill were going to the house that Jack built

When it came half past six o'clock every bath in Dolly Gander Lane was wiped and put away and all the little ones swept out

When it came seven o'clock all the water taps were running and every boy was having an extra bath

At half past seven o'clock every necktie was tied and every wish was combed out and every shoe was buckled And you could hear Lorraine and Jess saying, every here and there and then, and the other Funny Little Girl Jacks house

Mister Piper Twins father was to play the first fiddle, so he got there right in order to tune up his fiddle and have them ready as he would keep this secret

Billy Shorter called for Peep wearing the fine silver Bridle set down to him from his greatest ancestor

George Lane who was a fine young fellow in spite of the silly name he got him called for Miss Muffet

And Bill Horner took Margery Daw

Nancy and Nick went with the spirit Nancy called up Daddy Gander on the telephone at supper time and told him she couldn't go to a party very well in her every day clothes or Nick either, so he told them to look in the doll menu in their Christmas tree house and help themselves

Nancy had found a pink satin dress trimmed in lace ruffles and Nick had found a George Washington suit—white silk stockings and all So you may imagine how fine they looked as they rang Jacks doorbell

Everybody was glad to see them but everybody was glad to see everybody else for that matter It was the jolliest party ever

The ice went very fine and every once in a while shoot dreadfuls Once when the Fat Man and Miss Suet were dancing three trays fell out of the chimney out the roof and down the through

Betty Lane Twins friend and after awhile Jacks mother and Bill went to the kitchen to eat the pumpkin and mince pies and ice cream later and serve the ice cream at eight

But suddenly there came rushing back Everything Some one there screamed There didn't go be left Santa Claus would have been run off with all the refreshments They were right in this conjecture Oh who could it be Who could it

Coming across the commander Daddy Gander, Mother Goose husband It couldn't be anybody here So a mystery melody was sent here

It's Taffy the Welshman' cried Jacks mother I invited him but he sent word that he would be busy tonight and couldn't come

Well he left part the truth anyway, said Daddy Gander sternly He's been very busy it seems We must go after him at once

Your Health

HAND SHAKING

PHYSICIANS and practical observer have come to the conclusion that 85 per cent of contact infection is by means of the hands

The physician or nurse is careful to thoroughly sterilize every article or instrument with which the hands in treating a patient, comes in contact Think then how great the danger is from the general public by hand contact and carelessness We do not know among those we meet just who is infected and who is not We do not think anything about it as a rule Five per cent of persons are careful the other 95 per cent are careless and are risking health and happiness by promiscuous hand shaking

It is true kissing is more direct means of contact, but it is not so common as the hand shake, and it is also confined to the exchange of nasal or oral discharges Outside sources such as contaminate clothing handling of animal pets coats or children in our home make the danger from hand infection great

The general public is slow to break away from custom and habit But a gradual training against the common greeting by hand shaking is possible It is one of these things given special emphasis in the great program for public health It will reduce the danger of disease transfer and infection in the long run

Persons with colds carry danger in their hand shake from handkerchief contamination In the case of influenza, hand shaking must be abolished Careless and unclean persons are more dangerous in their hand shake than from any other source of infection

The cheery smile combined with the military salute is a suitable substitute for the infectious hand shake

I've met them in valleys I'm mixing and plain
They've talked in the mines of Nevada or Maine,
They mingled of the mill the west state or the south,
Of New Jersey farmland New Mexico's drouth
They're fat they're lanky short stout or tall
But—MY kind of people Americans all!

THEY'VE taken me in from the cold and the storm
They've given me shelter and welcome that's warm
They've heard in my fun and they've cheered me in loss
When I've needed help they have sure come across,
Then kindness is something it's great to recall,
Good people—MY people, Americans all!

CAUCASIAN or negro, whatever their hide,

Plain hearted, clean minded a credit to throng,
Who've treated me right as I've traveled along,
Good fortune be with them whatever befall,
Good people MY people Americans all!

You can imagine my surprise, dear when last night a card was sent me just as I was dressing for dinner It was inscribed Mr Ellerton Sandley Underneath it was written Friend of Mr and Mrs Harry Illington Perhaps you have heard them speak of me

I have never heard you speak of him, Ruth, but I was very lonely and I thought it would do no harm to meet him in the lobby It would be very easy to get rid of him if I did not find him really your friend

I was very curious to see him I found him, when I entered the lobby a very charming English gentleman who said he had seen my name on the register of the hotel and as he had heard both you and Walter Burke speak of me and my husband, he had taken the liberty of sending me his card

I have a vague idea now that I have heard you speak of him He seemed to have known you very well when you were first married to Harry before I knew you He has just come from England where he tells me he saw Walter Burke befor sailing

Evidently Walter had not told him anything about Harry for he asked about him quite particularly and seemed rather chagrined when I informed him exactly what had happened

Mrs Illington seemed such a nice woman, he said that I cannot understand how any man could make her unhappy When I knew them Mr Illington was particular attentive to her'

He told me Walter was going to Egypt for the winter He has accepted a berth with a party of archaeologists who are really to get inside of King Tut's tomb in the next few months

He said one reason why he had sent his card to me was Walter had told him by any possibility he saw you or John or me to give us his kindest regards and to tell us that he would surely be back with us again next year

Of course, Ruth I knew that message was for you and so I am passing it on

Mr Sandley asked me if I were dining at the hotel, and I told him I was alone I had not thought of going out anywhere He asked me if he might sit at my table and I, of course was very glad to have some one to talk to

All went very well until I happened to see the people coming at the next table It was a party with whom Priscilla Bradford was evidently dining

I tried to bow to her but she pretended not to know me I wonder why it is that I am to be dogged by that persistent pest all the rest of my life Now, of course she will write to Jack's mother and he will be the recipient of another long letter retailing my reprehensible actions

I have invited Mr Sandley, if he comes to Albany, to have dinner with Jack and me, and as I did it I wondered what Jack would say especially if he got his mother's letter before I return

At least I have thrown off the shackles, Ruth I shall do what I please in the future Lovingly,

LESLIE

WHEN I AM DEAD

When I am dead my dearest,
Sing no sad songs for me
Plant thou no roses at my head,
Nor shady cypress tree
Be the green grass above me
With showers and dew drops wet,
And if thou wilt remember
And if thou wilt forget

I may not see the shadows
I shall not see the rain
I shall not hear the nightingale
Sing on as if in pain
And dreaming through the twilight
That doth not rise nor set
Haply I may remember,
And haply may forget

KITCHEN TOOLS

Do you ever take an inventory so to speak, of your kitchen utensils and weed out the old and worthless to make way for the new and necessary?

It's quite as important for the housekeeper to have a full set of good tools as it is for the carpenter or plumber

Sharp knives, bread knife, butter knives, one ten two tined fork, one short three tined fork, assorted spoons, pair of scissors are necessary in the kitchen as the bits and chisels saws and hammers are in the carpenters chest And the housekeeper uses her tools three times a day 365 days in the year, rain or shine

A nicked or bent edged paring knife is worthless in the kitchen, so throw it away and invest in a good steel knife that will stand sharpening and then take care of it A paring knife is a delicate tool and should not be used for scraping pots and pans nor paring off refrigerator lids If you pay a good price for a stainless steel paring knife with a sharp edge easily turned edge designed especially for paring and then abuses it you are throwing your money away Don't cut down on a hard surface with a paring knife For instance, when mincing parsley put the parsley on a small board rather than on the plate or saucer

Keen Edge

If you would keep your tempers dull keep your paring knife sharp A sharp knife is an economical device in that thinner parings can be taken in less time, thereby saving both time and food

A long thin case knife with a round end is valuable for cutting butter spreading sandwiches or toast putting on some kinds of cake frostings skimming vegetables and the like Very often in cooking the stiffness of a case knife makes it possible to loosen some thin corner which has stuck and won't yield to the spatula After gently prying loose with the case knife slip the spatula under to turn without breaking

At least one woman can keep house without one of these long broad limber spatulas They are used for turning pancakes, potato cakes meat balls, fish any vegetable or meat that is to be browned on top the stove The pliability of the blade makes it possible to slip it under a cake in the pan to remove it without breaking or run under the contents of a mold

Economical Too

When you are baking cookies you will use the spatula to remove them from the molding board and again to remove them from the pan and again to remove the last bit of dough from the mixing bowl A light fluffy cake frosting is spread with the spatula and the last trace of frosting is removed from the bowl with this same tool A spatula will serve many times its cost just by being the means of using every bit of butter or frosting or pudding or omelet or anything which must be mixed in a bowl

A wooden spoon is essential for creaming butter and sugar and beating stiff mixtures

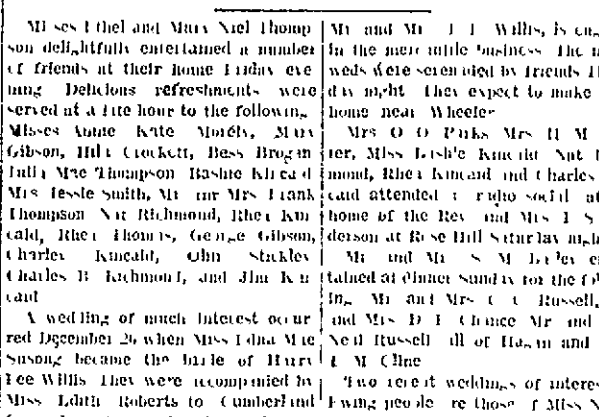
A slotted spoon is convenient for fishing cakes, stirring gravies and sauces or beating mashed potatoes if a wooden masher is used

A long tined and long handled fork is an insurance against burned fingers for oven use

A wire whisk is as nice any as a dover beater And the joy of having two sizes of dover beaters must be experienced to be appreciated Very often it is quite important to beat the yolk of one egg Every housekeeper knows the futility of trying to beat one egg in a bowl large enough to hold the ordinary dover beater

A presidential candidate tells us the dark horses are nightmares

—HAVE YOU ANY WOOL

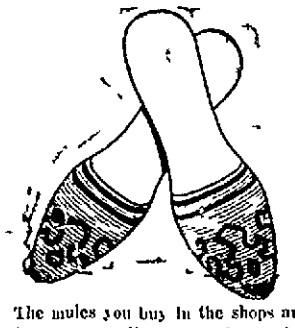


Don't ask the editor so silly a question then he'll give you the merry birth day blues Then coats are the things from which Mildred's mohair wrap come from and are worth $800 each stealing on the part of the mails were two men from San Angelo, Tex, and took first prize at the cat show held in that city

ONE UP AND ONE TO GO

Vicissitudes besetting modern cat life robbed this little puff ball of Grant Jones Cunningham Ark of all her kittens on the day they were born For days she mourned and then to requite an unfounded mother love, took the two orphaned little squirrels shown in the picture to her heart The pair have named Ty Cobb and Cy Williams and just now are very busy with their breakfast, as you can see

COMFORT GIVERS



The mules you buy in the shops are apt to carry quite staggering price tags, but the ones you make at home may be almost negligible as to cost A person who knits or crochets will find the pair illustrated very simple to make Then when the very simple to make Then when the knitting is finished cross stitch some pattern in bright colors after the manner shown in the sketch, using a heavy silk or wool.

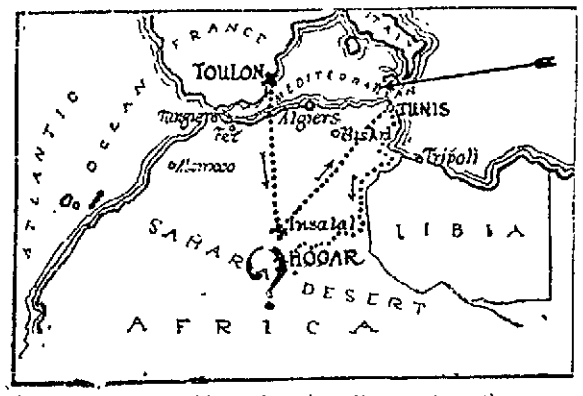
Where Missing Dirigible Is Sought By French



This map of northern Africa and southern Europe shows the scene of search for the Dixmude, gigantic French dirigible, missing since Dec. 23. The big army balloon flew over Toulon, France, across the Mediterranean to Insalah, in the Sahara desert. On its return, the Dixmude was caught in a storm near Tunis. Since then no definite trace has been found.

Dec. 27 the Dixmude was reported south of Insalah near Hogar, the supposition being that it was drifting across the Sahara, looking for a landing.

The following day, fishermen found the body of the Dixmude's commander in the Mediterranean, a few miles off Sicily. The place where the body was found is indicated in an arrow. Dotted lines show known course of Dixmude up to the time of her disappearance near Tunis, and her probable course since the storm.

Yocum entertained, complimentary to her two daughters, Misses Mary Lea and Eva, who are spending the holidays at home, and also a courtesy to Mrs. Bill Parkey, Mrs. Clyde Robinson and children, Blossom W. Palmer and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Yokum. A chicken dinner was served. The dining room was prettily decorated in holiday colors.

Two weddings occurred here on Christmas Day. The contracting parties were Miss Ruth Pointer, daughter of Loris Pointer to Bert Sharp, son of James Sharp and Pate Rains to Miss Lucy Yokum, daughter of Moses Yokum.

Despite numerous holiday festivities the social events which filled Christmas week, several teachers of Claiborne county dismissed their schools for only one day. This was done in order that the schools might get the eight months term finished in time for students to enter the various colleges at the beginning of the spring semster.

The eight months term breaks the record for Claiborne county schools, this being the longest public school term in the history of the county. Supt. Baldwin and the county educational board are to be congratulated on bringing this about.

The postmaster at Cumberland Gap is to be congratulated on his very efficient and excellent work of handling the mails through the Christmas holiday rush. Hayes Alexander, rural carrier can't be beat in the United States for courtesy and good humor in his work.

Estill Evans who has been very sick is improving under the care of Dr. Fuson who hopes to have the patient well soon.

Prof. Wallace spent a very happy Christmas week at his home near Morristown, Tenn. but has returned to resume his school duties as principal of P. V. H. S.

Miss Ice Lee Bruce enjoyed the holidays at her home near Morristown Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Sharp and baby Virginia, spent the week end at Wells Springs with Mr. Sharps brother, Dr. Sharp and family.

Walter Bonner and wife of LaFollette have been spending a few days with his uncle, Pomp Earle.

Mr. and Mrs. Silus Treece and children of Jacksboro spent the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Most Treece. His brothers, Homer and George Treece, accompanied them home and will make a short visit.

Mrs. Julia Powers and daughter, Mrs. Hugh Ingles, are visiting Mrs. Powers' daughter, Mrs. James Hubbard, at Loyston in Union county.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Moyer and children visited her parents last week.

Miss Mary Lee Yocum presented her mother, Mrs. W. T. Yocum, with a handsome victrola on Christmas Day.

"ROBIN HOOD," SHOWING AT MANRING SPLENDID PICTURE

The motion picture, "Robin Hood" shown at the Manring last night, was one of the most delightful and most refreshing pictures seen here in a long time. The agility and good nature of Douglas Fairbanks and the beauty and grace of Enid Bennett, the two leading in the picture, are enough to intrigue the interest of any spectator. But when they are centered in such an absorbing plot as the one which made up the framework of this picture and when they are placed in the glorious settings which the castle and Sherwood Forest made for them there is no end to the interest their actions hold for those who watch them.

"Robin Hood" is one of the most wholly enjoyable pictures, in every way imaginable, and any one who absents himself from it, is missing a real treat.
